INSTRUCTIONS AFTER A DENTAL CLEANING

- Your animal was started on a regimen of antibiotics prior to their dental cleaning, continue tomorrow and continue until the antibiotics are finished
 - No antibiotics needed
 - The doctor has prescribed antibiotics for your animal, begin tomorrow and continue until antibiotics are finished
- Tooth extractions usually do not cause any problems. Most animals are able to eat their regular diet by the following day.
 - There are several ways to cut down on the tartar build-up on your pet's teeth, after they have had their teeth professionally cleaned by us:
 - Brush the teeth with special toothpaste made for animals. We prefer C.E.T. brand toothpaste.
 - Do this three times a week or more, if possible.
 - Do NOT use a human toothpaste on your pets' teeth
 - Feed a prescription veterinary diet. These foods are designed to scrape tartar from your pet's teeth while they chew. We have seen tremendous results from the use of these diets.
